| Comment: | I want to call attention to the attendance report included in tonight's board packet. A few things stand out to me as a parent and I would like follow up on the issues at a future board meeting. First, the number of students in "special education" in the attendance reports is listed as less than 2000 district wide. However, other reports indicate there are 6,000 students with disabilities in SCUSD. Which students are included in "special education" and which are not? Are these just students in SDC classrooms? If our students with disabilities are to be called out in an attendance report, when no other groups of students are, then it should include all of them, not just a subset. Secondly, it is obvious that attendance in even our virtual classrooms at our wealthiest schools is higher than at any others in the district. What are we doing to make school work for ALL of our students today? Third, attendance at our high schools averaged 88% for the last reporting period. That deserves our attention NOW. |
